Additional Comments: I believe Parenting Coordination offers opportunities to learn how to reduce arguments; protect children from continued conflict; and resolve issues that might otherwise lead parents back to court. I like to get to know both parents so that my work can be tailored to meet the needs of the individuals and the family. I work with parents through joint meetings (in person, by phone and by video conferencing); through individual meetings; and by email depending on the situation. I make efforts to help parents plan ahead to avoid problems and disagreements. When parents disagree, I try to explore options and possibilities for agreement. I have completed over 40 hours of specific training in Parenting Coordination in addition to hundreds of hours of mediation training and extensive education in family systems/child development. I led academic research focused on St. Louis County Family Court's PC program; have participated in the court's task force; and have provided parenting coordination training to other professionals in our area through Confluence Missouri, Inc.

Additional Comments: I've practiced law for almost 30 years, first in Indianapolis and since 2002 in St. Louis. As a child of divorced parents, as a divorced parent myself, as a step-parent and as an attorney working in the legal system in litigation, mediation and collaborative practice, I've learned a great deal about children, families and the dynamics involved in the divorce process. I hope to use the information I've learned (and am continuing to learn) through my years of practice, experiences and countless continuing education programs in working as a parenting coordinator.
